Your Chief Executive's review of the year

As a member owned organisation we listen when you tell us that value, service, security and making a difference to your family and community are what matters most. In 2023 we returned more value to you, our members, backed up by the service and security you expect while investing for the future and supporting your local communities.

2023 continued where 2022 left off, with the Bank of England raising interest rates to tackle high inflation. This was good news for savers, but challenging for borrowers, already coping with the day-to-day rise in the cost of living. Our priority has been to balance the needs of all our members, and offer you the value, service, and security you can rely on in times of uncertainty. We will always make decisions in the long-term interest of the whole membership.

In a year of uncertainty, we have supported our savings members. We've been quick to raise our savings rates and kept you informed as we've done so. We've recognised your trust in the Society with a range of loyalty savings accounts, as well as doing more to encourage good savings habits. We've increased our member premium, paying significantly more interest than the market average. Doing the simple things right has helped attract more members, and more savings to the Society, and we've delivered a great service, throughout the year, despite the increased demand.

I also understand the impact of significantly higher borrowing costs on homeowners. I'm very proud of the work done by my mortgage colleagues in supporting borrowers who needed help and working with intermediary partners through these challenging times, and proud too that we helped over 14,000 people, including 6,300 first time buyers.

This booklet talks more about our performance in 2023. A strong financial performance and a conscious decision to enhance our capital position – it makes your Society stronger. We have invested in technology and digital services as well as undertaking brilliant initiatives to support colleagues and our local communities. I'm proud of what we have delivered.

For me, there is a clear connection between mutual ownership and long-term stability and security. Our simple business model allows us to deliver great value, service and support to you and your families today, whilst delivering the financial strength that enables us to face the future with confidence. In doing these things we make a tangible and very positive difference to society.

I'd like to thank my colleagues for their hard work and dedication, professionalism, and commitment, and you, our members, for your loyalty, trust, and continued support.

Stephen Hughes

Chief Executive
28 February 2024

Our mutual business model is robust and we'll continue to provide the value, service and security our members expect.

Mutual values

We help your money work for you. Whether you're a saver or a borrower, our aim is to make you better off through life.

Long-term value has never been more important

The increase in living costs means it's more important for everyone to get the best value possible. Giving you long-term value is one of the most important measures of our success. Doing the right thing for our members means balancing the needs of savers and borrowers – who are affected by rising interest rates in very different ways. It's clear from your feedback that you trust us to do the right thing, and to keep your savings safe and secure.

We're a mutual – looking after savers and borrowers

Our simple business model works on the relationship between savers and borrowers, to the mutual benefit of both. If you're a saver, we take care of your money and pay as much interest as we can balancing the need for long-term resilience. Our income comes from the interest our borrowers pay on their mortgage loan.

We're a careful, low-risk lender, so we keep your money safe and secure. If you're a borrower, this means we make sure your mortgage is affordable and good value, as well as providing great support if your circumstances change.

How we reward our savers

We continue to pay our savers above market average and have taken the opportunity to improve savings rates throughout the year as the Bank of England Base Rate increased. We paid an extra £342 million of interest to our members¹ than if we'd just matched the average rates paid in the market.

Looking ahead, we want to continue to help those who work hard to save. We're also supporting those who save on a regular basis and savers looking to buy their first home.

And that goes for our youngest members too. We're here to help children learn about smart savings habits from the age of seven. In fact, our 'Young Saver' product was so popular we doubled our account openings last year.

Loyalty counts

We value the loyalty of our members, because it's you who make us what we are. Last year, we offered a range of loyalty products designed specifically for members. Over half of the over 145,000 new loyalty accounts have been opened by members who have been with us for more than ten years.

Helping our borrowers

At such an uncertain time in the market, we tried to give our borrowers as much certainty as possible. We made the decision to protect our variable rate mortgage customers by not passing on the full impact of the Bank of England Base Rate rises in 2023.

We've also been there for mortgage customers who needed support in these difficult times. We've been proactive in contacting borrowers as early interventions can make the biggest difference. And we give access to debt advisers to provide the best help we can.

Which? Recommended Provider for Savings Accounts (October 2023).

Service that stands out

We're passionate about giving you outstanding service. More than just looking after your money, we want to look after you, however you prefer to get in touch with us.

We've helped more of our members than ever

We've always set a high bar when it comes to service. The challenges of the last year meant you've had more questions than ever and needed more time to get things figured out. Offering competitive accounts was another reason why our phone lines were so busy.

But when you called you got a consistently brilliant service from our branch and contact centre teams.

In fact, the average call waiting time was even cut by 102 seconds this year, compared to last year (we've answered around 860,000 calls this year).

Despite high numbers of calls we're proud to give you the support you need when you need it most.

We're future-proofing our customer service

To make sure we can keep responding to your calls quickly, we're taking on and training new team members. We're also continuing to look at more flexible ways of working, so that our people in branches can provide telephony and digital support.

We've invested in technology

Many of our savers and borrowers value the speed and convenience of managing their accounts online.

We continue to develop our online mortgage and savings services and members and mortgage brokers can now switch products whenever and wherever it suits them. More new technology means we can now complete a mortgage application in just seven minutes. And after gaining valuable feedback from members, our mobile app is now available.

We know that the human touch is really important to those of you using our branches and telephony services and we are just as committed to serving you in this way, as we've always been.

Keeping you safe

Protecting vulnerable customers is a responsibility we take incredibly seriously. If we notice anything suspicious we don't hesitate to act on our instincts. In doing so we've helped vulnerable members who have fallen victim to attempted financial crimes, been unwell or needed safeguarding support in the community and protection from third parties. Our members have said they appreciate the friendliness and care shown by our people, and feel supported by them. This is especially true for members who tell us about a bereavement, illness or change in circumstances as well as those visiting a branch or calling our contact centre about savings accounts.

To help all our members feel safe and secure, we're proud to support the national Take Five campaign, which aims to stop fraud. In the last year, we've offered more advice on how to protect yourself from financial fraud like email, phone and online scams.

Our service levels was consistently strong throughout 2023, and our Net Promoter Score (NPS)¹ – the main way we judge overall satisfaction for our service, was +76 (2022: +75) for the Society as a whole.

Delivering a great service

Our performance has been independently recognised too, with Fairer Finance naming us 'Number 1 for Customer Experience' across Savings and Mortgages. As well as winning 'Best Savings Account Provider' and 'Best Mortgage Lender' at The Times Money Mentor Awards.

We've been recognised by our colleagues

In 2023, we were delighted to increase our Great Place to Work Trust Index™ score – it now stands at 81% – making us one of the best large companies in the UK to work for, according to our employees. We are always trying to be better and have achieved higher results across 96% of all statements in both the 2022 and 2023 surveys.

A key aspect of providing a great working environment is our commitment to diversity and inclusion. Just some of the new things we did in 2023 were holding trust and inclusion workshops with our leaders, launching a new initiative for everyone at the Society called 'Together Braver' – which combines face-to-face learning with digital toolkits – and we saw our employee networks grow and develop, including new Asian and Carers' Networks.

A highly engaged workforce and fantastic levels of service is no coincidence. We're proud to provide an inclusive and inspiring workplace as it helps us deliver a great service to members.

Safeguarding your security

Keeping you safe and supported at all times.

1. A measure of customer advocacy that ranges between -100 and +100 representing how likely a customer is to recommend our products and services.

If it matters to you, it matters to us

Whether it's supporting our members in financial difficulty, listening to the views of our Member Panel or being a friendly face in your local branch, we're committed to doing the things that make a difference.

Our decisions are based on what's best for you

Because we don't have shareholders, everything we do is based on your best interests. You tell us very clearly what you want – and that is great value, great service, and the support we give you, your families, and your communities, through good times and bad.

Best Building Society from Savings Champion 2023.

We've helped first time buyers

We know how hard it is for first time buyers to get onto the property ladder right now. Last year, our First Home Saver account helped hundreds of savers build up a deposit – either for themselves or for a member of their family. Along with a competitive rate, we offered a cash bonus for taking out one of our mortgages. We also started a new dedicated service for those of you buying a new build home. Because new builds are often more energy efficient, this supports our climate plan too.

We're trusted by you

Many of your concerns focus on the cost of living challenges and making your money work as hard as possible. We continue to pay savers above the average in the market. We've also been quick to let you know about savings rate changes and as these start to return to more normal levels, be here to help make the right decisions for you.

As well as responding to members' worries last year – we were also proactive in identifying who might need help. We contacted borrowers who were at greater risk of falling behind on their repayments, to offer them support.

Consumer Duty is another example. These new rules aim to improve services and protection for customers. Whilst we think we're in a good place, we're not complacent and are working hard to keep your trust and support.

Our Member Panel really counts

We make it a priority to talk to our Member Panel, made up of nearly 10,000 saving and borrowing members. They're regularly asked what they think of our service, projects we're working on and ways we could do things better. Even though we can't always act on everything, we do listen.

We don't have shareholders, everything we do is based on the long-term interests of our members.

We launched our partnership with a new corporate charity. Centrepont is the UK's leading youth homelessness charity.

CENTRE

HOMELESSNESS

At the heart of your community

We care about the places and people around us. By investing in our communities, locally and around the UK, we make a real and immediate difference to people's lives.

Changing things for the better

We want to make significant, lasting improvements to the lives of the most vulnerable and disadvantaged communities where we live and work.

In 2023, we launched our partnership with a new corporate charity. Centrepont is the UK's leading youth homelessness charity, working together with partners to support over 16,000 young people every year while campaigning to end youth homelessness by 2037. Last year we donated close to £1 million through savings related activity, and colleague fundraising to Centrepont.

Donations will help fund the Centrepont Helpline, which provides specialist advice and guidance for young people across the UK who are homeless or worried about housing. It will also help more young people into education, training and employment opportunities, enabling them to realise their potential.

We have opened a new Youth Hub in Coventry with local Centrepont partner, St Basil's, and funding a transformational prevention programme with schools, all of which contributes to the long-term ambition of ending youth homelessness for the next generation.

Last year we donated close to

£1 million

through savings related activity and colleague fundraising to Centrepont.

Our three focus areas where we add funding, knowledge and opportunities are:

1 Better Foundations

So everyone has a place to call home

Our partners help the most disadvantaged and vulnerable in our communities to keep a roof over their head and food on the table. We're funding organisations like Coventry Citizens Advice, which offers debt guidance, the Central England Law Centre, and the network of social supermarkets across Coventry who provide food and wraparound support. Our colleagues and members also support the communities we serve across the whole of our branch network.

2 Better Futures

So young people have the knowledge, skills and confidence to succeed

We support nine schools in some of the most disadvantaged communities in Coventry. We work with teachers and local authorities to learn exactly what kind of support is most helpful. Last year, we ran our Coventry Counts programme of literacy and numeracy support for our six primary schools, and our Employability programme for our three secondary schools. All our schools programmes have financial literacy learning built in, to help equip young people with valuable life skills. We also continued our virtual Work Insights programme, to let pupils in years 10-13 find out more about careers in financial services.

3 Better Connections

So older people don't face loneliness and isolation

Over the course of 2023, we've run befriending events in conjunction with Age UK (Coventry and Warwickshire) and the Belgrade Theatre Trust. Guests who may have arrived alone have now formed a network of friends as well as learning valuable skills in managing money and protecting themselves from fraud.

Overall we've invested over £3 million in our communities in the year¹.

1. Total community investment made by the Society in 2023 has been determined in line with the Business for Societal Impact (B4SI) framework.

Our environmental ambitions

We're committed to doing what we can to help address climate change.

Tackling the climate challenge

People expect businesses to play an active role in tackling national issues like climate change, the housing crisis, or creating opportunities for the more marginalised in society. As a mutual with a track record of supporting people, we're well placed to do this.

We're proud to have become the first building society in the UK to be certified as a B Corp.

We're committed to being a sustainable and responsible business. We're making good progress on our Net Zero journey, although we know that we can't do this on our own. We need to see policy change, efforts across the industry, and more government support focused on housing. We are helping borrowers understand the changes they can make through our Green Further Advance offer, which incentivises them to make green home improvements and reduce their emissions and bills.

We launched our 'Sustainable Living' section on our website to help our customers understand the impact of home energy use and provide hints and tips along the way. Our Home Energy Efficiency Tool provides personalised energy-savings plans, to help customers make energy-saving improvements to their home.

We're also a signatory to the UN Principles for Responsible Banking. This helps us to act in line with the 2015 Paris Climate Agreement and the UN Sustainable Development Goals, and we welcome the accountability it brings.

We're proud to have become the first building society in the UK to be certified as a B Corp. This commits us to a sustainable way of doing business including protecting the environment and preserving its resources. Therefore, in addition to our climate plans, the work we are doing with our members, colleagues and our own operations, we also ensure that we work towards best practice and with our external partners towards tackling climate change.

You can find the full details of what we're doing to reduce the impact of climate change in our Sustainability section on our website.

We continue to send zero waste to landfill and have done since 2017.

'I was appointed Chair of the Board in April 2022 and am honoured to undertake this role for an organisation that is so dedicated to its members, customers and community. 2023 has been a challenging year for all our customers due to the many interest rate rises that have taken place. Throughout the year, our priority has been to balance the contrasting impact of this on our savers and borrowers, while doing all we can to safeguard those borrowers most at risk.

The exceptional growth in our savings business in 2023 reflects the competitiveness of our rates throughout the year as well as the success of our loyalty savings products. At the same time, the Board has also been very aware of the need to maintain the Society's financial strength, whilst investing in its technology foundations, its excellent people and in future services that will ensure we remain relevant and resilient in a fast-developing sector. We have tried hard to strike the right balance between all these competing priorities. Thank you for all your support and loyalty in 2023.'

‘Having worked in many customer-facing roles during my career, I’ve always felt very strongly that organisations which prioritise the long-term interests of their customers are the ones that not only succeed, but also create better workplaces for their people. That is what I value about the Coventry - the fact that the Board often talks about the needs and priorities of members, and that we are able to take decisions with that firmly set on our priority list. Because I see this happening in practice, I had no hesitation recommending to my dad that he put savings with us. I knew that we would treat him fairly and honestly and do our best. There is no greater recommendation I could give for the business.’

Group Chief Accounting Officer, Athora.

‘Delivering great financial outcomes and excellent service to our members is very important to me and I believe this is the key to the long-term sustainability of the Society. In 2023, with high inflation, cost of living crises and high interest rates, the society had to make challenging decisions to achieve a delicate balance between great outcomes for its savers and borrowers as well as investing in our communities, our colleagues and the societies infrastructure to create a long-term sustainable business. This was achieved by putting members at the heart of all our decision making and I am very proud of what we delivered. As Environmental, Sustainability and Governance (ESG) champion on the Board, I am very conscious of long-term sustainability and will continue to focus on Putting Members First, supporting our communities, colleagues and doing our bit for the environment.’

'As we continue to upgrade and digitise our services, we're always conscious that the money being spent belongs to our members. This means it's important we get good value and invest efficiently. The sustainability of the Society for current members – and future generations – is at the forefront of our decision-making. We shouldn't differentiate ourselves on price alone, but on the total value of what we offer members – things like service standards, the human touch, multiple options for accessing our services, and long-term customer relationships. We're always conscious of our role as a mutual building society rooted in our communities, and the importance of contributing positively to these communities – and indeed, to the wider society.'

'In a year that was so strong for the Society – but which saw significant cost of living pressures – it made sense to us to continue to invest into our communities. The interest rate rises saw many members getting in touch with us for help and support – and we've given them exactly that. Our human service sets us apart and we must fight to protect it. I also believe strongly in rewarding loyal savers. In the last year, we've offered some fantastic products that have proved really popular. Looking ahead to 2024, I would like us to use our financial strength to continue to improve products and services for members.'

Independent Non-Executive Director

Appointed to the Board: September 2018

Committee membership: Chair of Board Risk Committee. Member of the Board Audit Committee, Nominations & Governance Committee and Board Technology Oversight Committee.

Experience

Wide-ranging experience within the financial services sector. Director of Banks, Building Societies and Credit Unions at the Bank of England and Head of UK Banks and Mutuals at the Financial Services Authority (now Financial Conduct Authority). Ten years in various senior roles at Yorkshire Building Society.

External appointments

Chair of Northern Bank Limited (Danske Bank UK), Advisor to the Board of OakNorth Bank plc and a visiting professor at the London Institute of Banking & Finance.

'Providing great service to our members' drives everything we do. As the Bank of England continued to raise interest rates last year, many more of our savings members wanted to talk to us, which stretched our ability to answer telephone calls quickly. In response, the whole business pulled together to make call answering our priority. Meanwhile, our contact centre and branches were proactive in reaching out to people who might be affected by the cost of living pressures. It is initiatives such as these that demonstrate the great people we have at the Society and I'm proud that we've been recognised as one of the best large organisations in the UK by the "Great Place to Work" programme.'

Summary Directors’ Remuneration Report

I am pleased to present a summary of our 2023 Directors’ Remuneration Report. Our full Directors’ Remuneration Report can be found in the Society’s 2023 Annual Report & Accounts online at thecoventry.co.uk

This summary report contains information on our Remuneration Policy, which sets out how we pay our executive directors, and the remuneration each director received for 2023. The Annual Remuneration Report is submitted to a vote, by you, the members, each year at the Annual General Meeting.

The directors’ entitlement to remuneration is not conditional on the AGM vote. However, the Remuneration Committee will take account of your feedback.

Our policy for Directors’ Remuneration

The Society’s Remuneration Policy¹ is designed to ensure remuneration rewards executive directors for their skills, knowledge, responsibilities and performance. When making any decisions about pay and benefits the Society strikes a balance between the needs of employees, the needs of members to ensure cost-efficiency and the requirements of its regulators.

The review of the Policy has confirmed that it remains well aligned with the Society’s mission, purpose, belief and values, and the expectations of our members. It supports the Society’s ability to recruit, motivate and engage and retain great people and is consistent with our risk appetite. The Policy is designed to support the overall financial stability of the Society and its strategic priorities, by promoting sound and effective risk management and does not encourage excessive risk taking.

The key components of remuneration for executive directors are set out below:

Element	Operation
Base salary	Salary increases are reviewed annually in line with all colleagues at the Society and the principles which drive this review are consistent between executive directors and employees. Salary levels take into account experience, market data, the economic environment, individual and Society performance.
Benefits and pension	These include a company car or car allowance, private medical insurance, life assurance and permanent health insurance. Executive directors may participate in the defined contribution pension plan or receive a cash alternative should contributions exceed the annual or lifetime allowance and this is reviewed by the Remuneration Committee annually. The Chief Executive and Chief Financial Officer receive 10% of base salary for pension contributions and the Chief Customer Officer received 15% as a legacy arrangement in line with members of the now closed defined benefit pension scheme. Future executive director appointees will receive 10% contribution, in line with the maximum potential for all new employees.
Annual Success Share bonus	This rewards performance over a single financial year across a balanced scorecard of measures (see below) and is provided to all eligible Society employees, including executive directors. An award of 10% of base salary is made for on target performance, up to a maximum of 20% of base salary for exceptional performance.
Annual Executive Variable Pay Plan (ExVPP)	The Society measures annual performance of the ExVPP against business performance which is assessed using the same balanced scorecard that determines the Success Share bonus. This accounts for 70% of the total award. Individual performance accounts for the other 30% of the award. This is assessed by reference to up to three individual objectives, which are agreed at the outset. An award of 30% of base salary is made for on target performance, up to a maximum of 60% of base salary.

1. Our Remuneration Policy and approach follows the Prudential Regulation Authority’s Code on Remuneration Practices and we apply the relevant provisions of the UK Corporate Governance code where applicable.

Our performance in 2023

The Society's balanced scorecard contains nine measures which are aligned to the business strategy and have equal weighting. This approach has member outcomes at its heart and protects against excessive risk taking. Despite the challenging market conditions in 2023, the Society delivered a strong and balanced performance. The Society exceeded against six of the nine performance targets which determine variable pay, performed in line with three measures and did not perform below target against any measures, as summarised below:

Performance measure	Performance target range	Performance result	Performance relative to target range
People and societal impact
Employee Engagement ¹	76% - 80% Trust (Recognised)	81% Trust (Recognised)	Exceeded Target

Remuneration Summary for Executive Directors

Base salary

The annual review of salaries in April 2023 saw a pool of 8.0% of basic salaries which focused on those in our entry level grades and those who are low in their salary range. The Chief Executive's salary increase was set at a level due to the relatively low positioning of base salary and total remuneration against comparator companies, strong performance and growth of the Society. This approach was consistent with that taken for other employees.

Variable pay

Given the performance outlined above, the Committee considered the vesting outcomes reflected the underlying business performance and risk appetite of the Society with an appropriate level of variable awards and determined an annual Success Share bonus of 19% of base salary for all eligible employees, including executive directors, from a potential maximum of 20%.

For recipients of the ExVPP the performance metrics are split 70:30 between collective performance as determined by the outcome of the balanced scorecard, and individual performance as determined the achievement of up to three strategically aligned individual goals. The individual goals are used to increase personal accountability for the delivery of key strategic targets. The Committee awarded an ExVPP bonus of between 57% to 58% of base salary to executive directors from a potential maximum of 60%.

- Base salary is the actual salary earned in the year and will differ from the current salary effective from 1 April.
- Pension allowance includes both contributions to the Group's defined contribution pension scheme and cash payments in lieu of contributions.
- The remuneration shown for Peter Frost is up to the date he stepped down from the Board on of 27 April 2023.

Deferral and retention

Success Share and ExVPP payments to executive directors are made in cash and are subject to deferral rules which are in place to enable reduction and repayment of awards in the occurrence of unusual events in compliance with the Remuneration Code.

In 2023, all executive directors were above the regulatory deferral threshold and therefore their variable remuneration will be paid in instalments as set out below.

For each of these annual payments, half of the awards are made in cash. The Remuneration Code requires that the other half is retained for a further period of 12 months and is made in shares or, in the case of a non-listed business like the Society, an equivalent share-like instrument (SLI).

The table shows the percentage (where applicable) of variable remuneration which will be paid to executive directors in each year.

Variable pay received	2023	2024	2025	2026	2027	2028	2029	2030	2031	2032

CEO pay ratio

The CEO pay ratio compares the Chief Executive's pay to the employee population. It is calculated using the 'single total remuneration methodology'¹ which includes salary, variable pay, pension and taxable benefits. It is calculated by identifying the median total remuneration as well as the total remuneration at the 25th and 75th percentiles.

For 31 December 2023, these are set out below:

		25th percentile £	Median £	75th percentile £
2023	Total pay and benefits	31,240	41,788	62,254
	Salary	25,200	32,820	45,296
	CEO pay ratio	35:1	26:1	17:1
2022	CEO pay ratio	32:1	25:1	16:1

1. Calculated in accordance with the Companies (Miscellaneous Reporting) Regulations 2018

Remuneration earned by Non-Executive Directors

Non-executive directors receive fees, which depend on their individual roles including whether they chair any committees, or hold positions such as Senior Independent Director or Deputy Chair. They are reimbursed for reasonable expenses but do not participate in any Society pension or bonus arrangements. Fees are reviewed annually, considering market data, annual pay increases awarded to all employees and the Society's performance.
