Considering an Interest-only mortgage?

The information in this leaflet should help you decide if this route is right for you.

Interest-only or repayment – what's the difference?

With an Interest-only mortgage:

- Each month, you only pay back the interest on the money you borrowed. You don't pay back any of the original loan amount.
- This means that your payments are lower than they would be on a repayment mortgage. It also means the amount you owe doesn't reduce.
- At the end of the mortgage term, you pay back the amount you originally borrowed, plus any fees or charges on your account.

With a repayment mortgage:

- Each month, you pay part of the amount you borrowed and some interest that has been charged.
- This means that your payments are higher than they would be on an Interest-only mortgage. This is because you're paying back the whole balance over the term of the mortgage.
- As long as you make all your payments in full and on time, you will pay off the whole loan at the end of the term.

Our Interest-only mortgages

You can get an Interest-only mortgage on some of our fixed rate and Offset products. There's no minimum income required, but you will need to prove that you can afford a similar repayment mortgage.

Fixed rate

With a fixed rate mortgage, your payments will be fixed for an initial period. This is usually between two and five years. This is good option for you if you'd like to know exactly how much you need to pay each month until the fixed period ends.

Interest-only Offset

With an Offset mortgage, your savings 'offset' the interest you pay on your mortgage. This is done with an Offset savings account which is linked to your mortgage. We'll set up your Offset savings account as soon as your mortgage has completed.

Here's how it works:

The mortgage interest you save is called the 'Offset benefit'. You can use this to lower the outstanding balance or your monthly mortgage payment, whichever suits you best. Even a small amount in savings can make a big difference.

Your mortgage =
£100,000*

Your savings balance =
£20,000

We only charge you interest on £80,000
The difference between your savings and the mortgage amount.

* On an Interest-only mortgage, your monthly payments only cover the interest charged but none of the original amount you borrowed. This means your monthly payments will be lower than a repayment mortgage but you will still have to pay back the amount you borrowed at the end of the mortgage term.

You can change how you use your Offset benefit whenever you like – just call us and we can arrange it for you.

Your Offset savings account is an easy access account, so you can access your savings whenever you need to.

- The money in your Offset savings account won't earn interest because it's offsetting the interest payable on your mortgage
- But there's no income tax liability on your savings either.

Are you eligible to apply?

To apply for an Interest-only mortgage with us, there's some criteria you'll need to meet.

- You'll need a minimum of £300,000 in equity left in your home. This is after the mortgage amount you need has been taken into account.
- The maximum Loan to Value* (LTV) you can apply for is 50%.

So, if your property is worth £375,000, you could apply to borrow up to £75,000. This leaves the £300,000 minimum equity. With this, the LTV is equivalent to 20% of the property value.

Look at this example:

£375,000
Property value

£300,000
Minimum equity required

£75,000
Maximum loan amount

20% LTV

* The LTV is the amount of the loan requested calculated as a percentage of the property value, e.g. if your property is worth £375,000 then 50% LTV would be £187,500.

Do you have an acceptable repayment plan?

Because your monthly payments only cover the interest charged, you'll still have to pay back the original loan amount when your mortgage ends. This will also include any fees and charges debited to your account.

This means you'll need to have an acceptable repayment plan in place. We'll ask you to prove this when you apply.

All plans must be on the basis of current value of your home, rather than its potential future value. It also includes (but isn't limited to):

- The sale of investments – 80% of the current value
- An endowment policy – 100% of the current statement value
- A pension lump sum:
  - 12.5% of the current statement value of a defined contribution pension scheme, or
  - 50% of the guaranteed lump sum due from a defined benefit pension scheme
- The sale of the mortgage property, or another mortgage-free property you own:
  - 50% of the current value of the property you're mortgaging, or
  - 60% of the current value of a second property.

We're unable to give investment advice and would always recommend that you speak to a financial advisor for advice on how to set up an acceptable repayment plan.

Case study 1

An Interest-only mortgage allows David and Ellie to release equity from their home and buy a property for their son, Andrew, while he's at university.

David (55) is a company director and Ellie (49) is an HR director for an accountancy firm. They want to buy Andrew a flat as an investment while he's at university, rather than paying to rent a property.

They want to release some capital from their home

Income
£185,000
(joint)

Property value
£700,000
(mortgage-free)

Pension
£400,000
(combined guaranteed payment)

David and Ellie have a number of assets and are happy to use their combined guaranteed pension payment to repay the mortgage.

Reduced monthly payments

Taking out an Interest-only mortgage to buy a flat as an investment gives them options for the future once Andrew has finished university.

They're able to borrow £150,000, and they meet our criteria for Interest-only by leaving more than £300,000 equity in the property and not exceeding an LTV of 50%.

Case study 2

Switching her repayment mortgage to Interest-only means Sarah reduces her monthly mortgage payments so she can invest in her daughter's education.

Sarah (35) is a self-employed marketing consultant and works as a contractor through her own limited company. She's currently reviewing secondary schools for her 10-year-old daughter, Sienna. She would love to put her into a good private school locally.

Sarah wants to free up some income each month

Income

£120,000 salary + £50,000 share of net profit after corporation tax

Property value

£550,000

Current mortgage

£200,000

(repayment)

An Interest-only mortgage reduces Sarah's outgoings

The monthly payments on an Interest-only mortgage are less than her current repayment mortgage. She'll have extra money each month and this will help her pay for Sienna's school fees.

Sarah has plans to move to Wales and buy a smaller property when Sienna grows up and moves out. She's comfortable about selling her home to repay the mortgage at the end of the term.

Case study 3

By changing his repayment mortgage to an Interest-only Offset, Michael has access to his savings when he needs it. His savings offset the amount of mortgage interest he pays.

Michael (42) has a successful career as an architect for a major house developer. He has an existing repayment mortgage of £110,000 on his home, and owns four Buy to Let (BTL) properties. He'd like to renovate two of them so he can sell them.

As a landlord, Michael needs access to his savings to cover his renovation costs

Income
£75,000

Property value
£420,000

Stocks and shares
£170,000
(Current valuation)

Savings
£40,000
(Transferred into his Offset savings account')

Michael has invested much of the profit from his BTL properties into stocks and shares. He's happy to use his investments to repay the mortgage at the end of the term.

More flexibility with an Offset

Michael can use his Offset savings to reduce the amount of mortgage interest he pays, but still access money for renovation work and unexpected property repairs if he needs to.

He borrows £110,000 on an Interest-only Offset. This leaves enough equity in the property to meet our criteria and doesn't exceed our maximum 50% LTV requirement.

Some common questions

What are the age limits for an Interest-only mortgage?

All applicants must be aged 18 or over. And you must be no more than 75 years old at the end of the mortgage term.

Can I take out a part repayment part Interest-only mortgage with you?

No, your mortgage must be either repayment or Interest-only.

Can I take out a mortgage that's likely to be more than 50% of the value of the property, now or in the future?

No, for an Interest-only mortgage, your Loan to Value (LTV) mustn't exceed 50% when you apply for the mortgage, or at any time in the future.

Some common questions

Can I make overpayments?

You can make overpayments to your mortgage of up to 10% of the capital each year. Check your mortgage terms and conditions for details.

What if I need to borrow more?

You'll be able to apply for additional Interest-only borrowing as long as the Loan to Value (LTV) doesn't exceed 50% for the whole mortgage. And you'll still need to keep £300,000 worth of equity in your home.

Any additional borrowing is subject to lending criteria and payment of any Early Repayment Charges (ERCs) that may apply – your mortgage offer will contain details of these changes if they apply.

Can I change to a repayment mortgage?

You can apply for a new repayment mortgage at any time, subject to our lending policy. Early Repayment Charges (ERCs) may apply – your mortgage terms and conditions will tell you all you need to know.

Will I be able to take my mortgage with me if I move house?

All of our Interest-only mortgages are portable – so you could apply to take it with you if you move to a new house as long as you still have an acceptable repayment plan in place. We'll need to see evidence of that.

Can I downsize to a smaller property and keep my Interest-only mortgage?

Yes, as long you keep £300,000 equity in the new property and the loan size isn't greater than 50% of the value of the property.

What if I want to pay off my mortgage early?

Early repayment charges (ERCs) may apply – your mortgage offer will contain details of these charges if they do. But, if there is less than six months of the initial product term remaining, details of which can be found in your mortgage offer, we'll waive any ERCs.

Are there any product fees associated with my mortgage?

You can find information about any fees we charge in the mortgage offer we send you. Or ask your mortgage broker.

How to apply

If you meet the criteria, you can apply for an Interest-only mortgage with us.

The application process:

1. Your advisor will recommend the best mortgage for you and complete the application with you. Depending on which mortgage you apply for, you may need to pay a fee. You can choose to add it to the loan if you want to.

2. We carry out a credit check and affordability assessment to make sure you can afford the mortgage.

3. We need to see evidence of your repayment plan – you'll be asked to fill in a form confirming the details.

4. If we're happy with your application, we'll send you an offer. Check it over, sign it and return it to us.

5. Then, just agree a completion date and collect your keys on the day. Or, if you're releasing equity in your home, we'll let you know when the money is available.

What's included?

If you're moving your existing mortgage to us, our Remortgage Transfer Service (RMTS) takes care of all the work involved. It includes standard legal work like carrying out Land Registry searches and preparing the mortgage deed.

We'll even arrange a standard valuation up to £670 so you don't have to pay it.

During the term of your mortgage:

- We'll write to you if your interest rate changes.
- We may request up-to-date details of your repayment plan from time to time.
- We'll remind you now and again to check your repayment plan and contact us if there are any problems.
- We'll send you an annual mortgage statement.

As your initial product term is coming to an end:

- We'll write to you four months before it comes to an end to remind you to get in touch.
- If we don't hear from you, we'll write again two months before.
- You'll need to contact us to discuss your options, otherwise your interest rate will change at the end of the initial interest rate period as set out in your mortgage offer.

As your mortgage is coming to an end:

- Two months before it ends, we'll write to you to let you know what the balance is and when you need to repay it.
- You'll need to ensure that the balance on your mortgage is repaid in full by your repayment plan at or before the end of the mortgage term. If the full amount is not paid by the agreed date your home may need to be sold to repay the mortgage.
- We'll send you a reminder one month before it ends.
- You'll need to contact us to tell us how you intend to repay the original loan.

Key things to remember

To take out one of our Interest-only mortgages you must have:

£300,000
Equity in your property

50%
Maximum Loan to Value (LTV)

An acceptable repayment plan
When you apply and throughout the term of your mortgage

Income
Sufficient to support an equivalent repayment mortgage

The decision to make a mortgage offer is determined by our lending criteria. This includes a full credit check, an affordability assessment, a review of your current financial commitments and our current lending policy.

All mortgage offers are subject to our mortgage terms and conditions and any other specific terms contained in your mortgage offer.

If your mortgage is Interest-only, your regular monthly mortgage payments only cover the interest charged on the amount you've borrowed. So unless you're making overpayments, the amount you owe isn't reducing and you'll need to repay the outstanding balance at the end of your agreed mortgage term.

Your home may be repossessed if you do not keep up repayments on your mortgage.
